BIG FEATURE PICTURE

There is no sport in the world which can bring forth such unbounded enthusiasm, perhaps, as football, so the great Mutual Masterpiece, "The Craving," to be shown today at the Gem Theater, will appeal to hundreds who are fond of the great game.

The entire first part of the picture is laid in a college atmosphere, with the plot centered about a young college hero with an inherited craving for honor.

William Russell, the popular American (Mutual) star, is seen in the leading role.

FOUR PITCHERS

Used by the Portsmouth Champs to Hold Down the Burley Cubs, They Finally Winning by the Score of 12 to 10—Manager Jones Protests the Game.

Had it not have been for the fact that Portsmouth had several extra pitchers along the tale of Monday's game would have been entirely different. Four separate and distinct hurlers performed for the Champs including "Boy Phenom" Hubert Test, who after the disastrous second inning announced to the admiring (7) populace that he would not exercise his arm until Thursday "The best laid plans of mice and men."

To start the afternoon entertainment the Champs made one in the first. Bush and Bauer both breezed. Diltz doubled and scored on a single by McHenry. The second frame resembled an old fashioned Indian massacre. Spencer started with a sounding blif. Singleton beat out a bunt and Kohlbecker contributed a passed ball. Demo grounded out. Fischer tore off a single and Spencer and Singleton trailing in. Jacobus forced Fischer and the world looked a little brighter, but when another blif by Bush and a stroll for Bauer the bases were full just like some of the Whiskey Dick boys. One roundabout whack by Mr. Diltz, Esq., and three more runs were chalked up. However a small score of six to nothing did not discourage the home team. Jones belted one, McGraynor paraded, Kohlbecker anxious to redeem himself pounded out a single scoring Jones. Wickham put an impulsive two bagger into left and McGraynor scored. Kohlbecker was called out at home on very close play. Wickham scored a moment later on a fly by Skinner and the tallying was finished for the inning.

One in the third for Portsmouth. Spencer flied out. Singleton made a singular single. Demo safe on a bobble by Williams. Fischer lifted one scoring Singleton. One more in the fifth. Singleton hammered for two. Demo sacrificed. A long fly to the outfield by Fischer and the eighth run was in. Likewise the sixth. Bauer fouled out. Diltz doubled. McHenry went to second on a lovely error by McGraynor. Spencer lifted a fly to McGraynor and Diltz scored.

Maysville resumed scoring in the sixth. Wickham paraded. Skinner singled. Coyle flied out. Hoffman belted one. Then Mr. Al Kaiser stepped to the pan. A gay smile was on his face. It grew gay when he lambasted a triple. Sebasus now took up the pitching. Williams flied out and Kaiser came in.

The lucky seventh held three more in store for Maysville. McGraynor scattered. Kohlbecker whiffed. Wickham ambled. Skinner smote one and went to second on Demoe's error. McGraynor scoring. Coyle flied to McHenry. Wickham scoring. Hoffman whanged the ball for two. Skinner scoring.

The lead did not last long. In the eighth stanza Bauer drew four. Diltz made his fourth hit in four trips. McHenry safe on Williams' error. Then with the bases full Spencer was walked. A single by Singleton finished it. Diltz and McHenry scoring.

King pitched the eighth for Portsmouth and Test the ninth frame. In the ninth Manager Jones protested the game from the fact that Portsmouth had thirteen uniformed men on the field.

The feature of the game was the umpiring by Jacobs. His decisions were the worst ever, handing Portsmouth three in the second and robbing Maysville of one in the same inning.

Although defeated, Maysville made twelve hits off of four pitchers. The Portsmouth pitchers walked eight men, but the umpire lost the game for us. The box score:
